Haltadefinizione EU – revolutionary high-definition access to works of art

To open a new path to our cultural and artistic heritage, to preserve and protect it, and to make it accessible – this is the main goal of the facsimile edition publishing houses Müller & Schindler and Faksimile Verlag and of the Italian publishing company Franco Cosimo Panini Editor S.p.A. Together they are delighted to announce an exciting and innovatory product at this year's Frankfurt Book Fair, one which will redefine the enjoyment of art.

In collaboration with the Italian publishing house Franco Cosimo Panini Editor S.p.A., the publishers will present Haltadefinizione EU, a groundbreaking project that offers the digitization of works of art through a newly developed technical procedure designed for the purpose. Haltadefinizione EU offers an unprecedented quality of digitization, impressive 3D processing, and well-designed image data management and digital asset management, along with a professional delivery platform. The project makes a major contribution to the exploration and preservation of works of art, and allows the user to immerse themselves in the new era of digital art experience.
